

Becle informs on unusual trading volume of its shares

Mexico City, México, May 29, 2020 – BECLE, S.A.B. de C.V. (“Becle” or the “Company”) (BMV: CUERVO*) informs investors that the unusual trading activity observed today on the volume of the trades of the securities identified with ticker symbol CUERVO, outside of the fact that Becle’s shares will be included on June 1st in the calculation of the MSCI index, information that was previously made public since May 12th, the Company has no knowledge of specific causes that could have originated specific activity on the trading volume of its shares, and there are no transactions or material events to be informed to the market.

The Company informs that today it operated its repurchase program in terms and within the boundaries authorized by its corporate governance bodies. Furthermore, the Company informs that it has no knowledge of any board member and/or officer having participated today in trades of Becle’s securities.